Resources for Library User Feedback

The Federal Depository Library User Feedback Form offers your library and GPO another opportunity to receive feedback directly from library users about the use and effectiveness of the FDLP. This form targets online researchers and complements other feedback mechanisms in use such as GPO's toll-free phone number and askGPO.

Use of this feedback tool by Federal depository libraries is voluntary. All comments received through the form will be shared with the library's depository director and coordinator (as listed in the FDLD), within a week of receipt.

We may use information gathered to continue to enhance FDLP strengths and also address any areas where improvements may be made.
